

REJECTION

REPORT

LEARN TO GET ANY GIRL

99.9% of men fail with women because they are consciously or unconsciously afraid of rejection.

Fear of rejection is one of the biggest things holding people back.

Dating experts always give the advice to grow a thick skin, be okay with rejection, and that dating is a numbers game.

However, that's easier said than done.

Three years ago, I decided to start searching for a better answer. I started to ask myself a question that would forever change how I viewed dating. "What if it was possible to seduce the world's hottest women, without even the slightest chance of getting rejected?"

This report is talks about my search for finding an answer to this question, a search for the "holy grail of seduction", and will revel all of the shocking discoveries that I made along the way.

So, take the time to focus and read every word of this article, because it will reveal secrets that will change the way you view dating forever.

If you are SERIOUS about dating and finding a girlfriend or someone for the night and wish to learn the same system that I was so successful in. Then you need:

Without further ado, here is my story. It was early in 2012, and I had been teaching my boot camps for a few months now.

The programs that I was teaching were top notch, I was teaching guys the most advance material that I had at the time. The material was well practiced on my part. The things I was teaching helped me, and those I taught, have a lot of success with women. During the day portion of my programs, I would teach the students all of my knowledge that I knew would help them succeed.

Then, during the nighttime portion of the program, I would demonstrate the techniques that I taught. My students would watch me pull moves on the dance floor and pick up girls. Afterword, we would discuss what happened, and what I did that to so successful.

Once the debrief was over, I would supervise my students as they went out and tried it for themselves.

The results where amazing, my students preformed great most of the time and were very successful.

My students succeed far more than anyone else I've ever heard of in the general community. Each weekend I trained a group of ten guys, and at least one or two would get laid, many would find a girl to make out with, and pretty much everyone would get a girl's number at the very least.

Of course, these were amazing results, but it still just wasn't nearly enough for me.

So, I decided to talk to my students and analyze the differences between the guys who were making progress, and the ones who just weren't. I thought about it for a while before it finally hit me. Some guys are just scared to approach women. I could give them the best advice I had, they could go through lots of training, but after the program ended, they still just didn't have the confidence to approach women.

Something did not seem right to me.

Other guys had similar, but still different issues as well. Some of the guys could talk to girls just fine, they were laughing and the conversation would flow and go well, until anything sexual started to happen. At that point, some of the guys would freeze up. Later, I would ask them what happened, and what went wrong.

Most of the guys would say the same thing, that it was going so well and they didn't want to mess it up. There were other groups of students with similar issues. They would get a bit further, however.

These guys would have a good conversation going for a while, maybe hours, and they would even get sparks going. By the end of the night, though, all they would usually come back with was maybe a number.

From the surface, these situations with my students might seem pretty different. However, at the core, all of the guys had the exact same problem. How could this have happened? I gave them all of my best tools, and set them up for success. The method that I was using at that time was a combination of the best techniques that I could find, taken from the community, and some personal techniques that I had. After some thought, however, I realized that my method would not work 100% of the time, because no method would! That's unrealistic.

There was a certain level of uncertainty with any method that me or my students used. Sure, it seemed like I had been successful with women, but it took me awhile to get there. It took some rejection on my part to find women that wanted to be with me. That was okay with me, because I put a lot of effort to talk to a lot of girls, so if one liked me, than I would take that as a success. Less than a year earlier, I couldn't even say hi to a girl, so I still felt good about my efforts. I was the best seducer that I knew!

But this wasn't about me and my accomplishments. It was about my students, and how they were doing. I started to realize that, for most of the guys in my course, any methods that required them to keep getting rejected until they succeeded, just were not going to work. Being rejected sucks, and getting rejected a lot over time can really hurt your confidence. If you work really hard to develop your skills, and still get rejected, it can really hurt. You get punished, over and over, for something that you thought was going to work. The more it happens, the more it hurts. Before you know it, you get a really bad feeling before making a move of any kind. It starts to build up an invisible brick wall that is hard to get past.

The moment I came to know about the situation... something was happening

When I came to know that regardless of whatever be the game that might require a person to undergo failure to experience rejection, isn't enough to get going, I realized that I need to fabricate something new.

Even if I wish that every student of mine needs the transformation in their life, I need to build a unique toolset that would help them achieve near 100% success.

However, to achieve this feat, I have to find out the root cause of rejection and find out the reasons why it occurred in the first place. Next, I will sort out things to completely erase them.

In an attempt to eagerly pursue my pickup...

I started with a brand-new purpose in mind. And, it was the type of hunger that I haven't experienced during the initial months in this game. So, I was reluctant to develop a solution so that it could benefit my students.

That's when studied my pickup basics – A famous pickup nightclub, Tiger Tiger in London is where it started originally and I started to experiment with unique approaches to this game. In short, I was working out on doing things differently.

I knew that if I want better results, I need to work out different strategies. And, started doing things backward. It means, doing opposite things that a majority of people around including myself believed as truths.

The right approach gives you elevated energy? I began approaching low. Like a stranger ask questions? I approached and greeted people like friends do.

Tell stories to gather attention? I revealed things about myself.

Try creating an emotional bonding? I experimented with things that avoided it completely.

And, so on.

Whatever rule that I need to follow, I simply broke it. All I wanted to see is what might happen next and where it will take me.

So, did it work? Not at all.

However, I noticed a certain number of breakthroughs. And, whenever I find one, I would write it down in my diary to understand what just happened.

As nights, weeks, and even months passed by, bits and pieces started to accumulate. Lots of new patterns evolved and strategies were born.

After 8 long months, I felt I reached somewhere. And, after one year, then another one, I was clear that I was after something. Previously, night out consisted of about six sets, but now it was just three.

The first one may not give the result I wanted, the second might not go well, but the third one? Yes, she is mine!

Even a year before, I was making out with a woman for only 3 hours. Today, I am like hanging out with a girl seconds after having eye contact. What's more, sleeping with them took 20 to 30 minutes.

I realized that I am closing in and that's when I decided to keep my hustle going and develop a perfect method to further my venture to another level, the high-class ones.

The risk of failure increases when you find environments where hot women roam.

I visited places where I believed Leonardo DiCaprio as my competitor and girls resembling Paris Hilton are my prime targets. So, what's the outcome?

I got that figured out.

Until now, I am banned from entering into two of the high-end establishments. The reason? "Coming in and leaving with the girls.... without even buying drinks!"

4 years later...

I took girls from Big Time celebrities in the UK.

And, I have slept with a lot of girls, almost half, from a popular strip club in Europe.

Of all these things, something that's most important to me is that I know how to take my game to a point where it seems like a single shot, single kill, get the girls. This was something that I longed for several years ago.

So, I will come out now and say that nobody gets 100% girls they approach. And, I am not perfect either.

All I did was develop a new, refreshing game that is quite close to being perfect. So, whenever I talk to women in a nightclub or bar, it's sort of done deal.

So, I am in a position right now where I can hand over the strategies to my valuable students.

If you are thinking that it sounds great to be near the truth, I got it. Yes, I totally understand when you consider other guys saying that "pickup is nothing but a number game".

That's not your fault. Even a few of my closest friends from the same community, guys who saw me pulling one model after another, believed that I made fun out of them when I revealed what was I have been working on lately.

So, I will tell you exactly what I revealed to them. However, there are possibilities that it might be a reality that's long enough for you to go through the entire content... but I will do them both.

So, let the fun begin...

- I will turn the game much on its head the way you wouldn't think it to be
- I will prove that anyone can game their way in and get close to a situation called "rejection proof", it is scary, though!

The whole truth about rejection

If you think deeply about rejection, it usually revolves around two simple words: ?yes' or ?no'.

As such, you make some endeavor, some kind of escalation, and the girl either accepts your thoughts or rejects them. When she accepts, it gets you going. And, when she denies, it means you are rejected.

And, it begins with the first look, even before approaching, and continues until you are in bed.

So, if you think that this is how it works in the best possible way, the power lies in the girl's hands. She's responsible for making decisions that ascertain whether it is a ?yes' or a ?no' to take things further, and not you.

But, that's not a great place for anyone to be.

So, the fastest route to reverse things and gain authority by taking things forward the way you anticipate is to erase all kinds of "decision dependency".

What precisely do I mean by this?

Well, if the core cause of all rejection is her choice to accept or reject one of your plays, then what you need to do is eliminate the source of the problem, which is to say, her decision in its totality.

What is the mechanism via which this is possible?

Well, if you are never going to make a "play," she will never have to make a decision. She is unable to either confirm or deny your existence. She will have no choice at any point in the interaction if you do not make a "play" from the beginning to the end.

Furthermore, because there is no decision to be made, there is no possibility of rejection.

Nevertheless, if you never make a move, you'll never get anywhere. Yes, without a doubt.

Making advances, plays, or moves forward, whatever you want to call them, in a way that is so "secret" that she isn't even aware you are making them, is the key to success. As a result of my research, I realized that there is...

"Perceptual Escalation Threshold" is a term used to describe the point at which perception begins to escalate.

Her conscious awareness that you are escalating the situation causes her to be pressured into making a decision. It's almost like an alarm that goes off whenever she feels a certain amount of pressure in her stomach.

If you operate above the threshold, you're out of luck.

As long as you keep your activities under the radar, everything will be OK. The majority of pickup techniques and tactics I've seen so far function ABOVE the threshold, which means the lady can consciously sense your approach, her rejection tripwire goes off, and she is forced to choose between you and another man.

Are you asking yourself, "Do I want this to go on or do I not?"

7 minutes and 36 seconds / 14 minutes and 32 seconds

Now is the best time to watch.

As a result, any method of pickup that works in this domain is liable to rejection or refusal.

However, if you keep your game below the threshold or her "perceptual escalation threshold," she will not notice that you are escalating, and she will not raise an issue about it. Just like that, it's done.

It's similar to preparing a frog in a skillet (I know, I know... terrible example..)

If you want to serve up a frog for dinner, you don't turn up the heat and put the little guy into the water. What's the harm in experimenting? Immediately upon entering the water, he will leap out. They also don't submerge him in water and instantly turn up the heat to 100 degrees F. wait for him to spring out.

Instead, they gradually raise the temperature of the water, such that the frog is entirely unaware of the change. As a result, it is below his perceptual threshold, and he cannot notice the shift taking place.

A failed effort at escape results in the frog being served as a main dish.

To put it another way, consider a typical day in the life of a person. The sun is shining when you wake up, but as the day progresses, the sky becomes darker.

What's even more bizarre is that it is simply kind of occurs. When it happens, you are entirely unaware of it. Because it develops too gradually, there is no time when you can declare, "There, everything just became darker!" "Damn, how the hell did that happen?" you wonder to yourself as you go outdoors for the first time after a long period.

Below the level of perceptual perception, this is the power of transformation.

What's more, if you can keep your approaches below her perceptual threshold, choice-dependency will be eliminated since she will never be aware that a decision must be made?

If her rejection response is never triggered, you have the authority to direct the course of events in whatever direction you want... Good. Following our understanding of this idea, our next question is: "How can we put this into action in the field in order to get genuine, verifiable results?"

And the mechanism that I've devised provides the answer to that question. This is the approach that I've developed...

Learn to get any girl!!

What is learntogetanygirl? and why is it so effective? it's a whole different way of approaching the game's rules.

That seduction should no longer be merely a "numbers game" and, if the game is played well, rejection should be rare, if not non-existent, underpins this step-by-step approach to the subject.

The overarching principle that underpins the method is the one I just shared with you; it is the concept of stripping all of your interactions of their "decision-dependency" to prevent the "rejection decision alarms" from ever going off and the woman you are seducing joyfully complies with each step of the process. Now is the best time to watch.

FOLLOWING THE PRINCIPLE OF PATTERN RECOGNITION

Although it seems to be a simple process, it is just one of several used by the approach to accomplish its objectives. The Secret Attraction Model, sometimes known as the SAM, is shown in the image above: Soon, I'll tell you more about the model.

It would help if you first grasped the notion of "perceptual thresholds" and a few basic concepts to go forward from here.

A notion that I refer to as... is the first of these ideas.

One of my favorite quotations is, "If it walks like a duck and speaks like a duck, it must be... a duck."

Is it all right? Uh... After frogs and now ducks, what is the world coming to?

Follow me here for a moment; I'll explain later...

Women are witty and wise individuals. There are hundreds upon thousands of occasions someone has hit on them. When a man hits them, they are well aware of what it looks and feels like. They can't be otherwise.

Take any of the world's finest Pickup Artists, guys who have made tens of thousands of approaches, and these ladies still have more reference experiences when it comes to picking up women. And do you have any idea what this indicates? Women can smell a pickup attempt from a mile away, and the vast majority of guys fail miserably in their endeavor. Consequently, women establish 'patterns' that they use to shut out males.

Even if you play the game like the other guys that she's shut down (and yes, a considerable percentage of pickup stuff out there falls into this category...), she will recognize what you are doing as a "pickup pattern." She will run her "anti-pickup pattern" or "rejection pattern," which she developed years ago. I've studied NLP extensively. Therefore I use the word pattern as though everyone is familiar with what it refers to.

Give her the polar opposite of everything else. In this case, you can react as follows: "Is she a nurse? It's a pity... We thought you might be a stripper. We assume there are plenty of other gals in here for me!"

You have a pleasant disposition. She makes a funny noise.

Her interest in you has only grown stronger. This type of humor is now a component of the Secret Attraction Method's "conversation management" section, and we'll show you how and why it works in the future.

But the most important thing to remember from this example is how she was anticipating something and you surprised her with something completely else.

To be clear, this does not imply that you will be automatically rejected. It differs depending on which girl you're talking to. Some girls enjoy having a little fun with the guy before discarding him. Others enjoy acting cold and bitchy to see what he'll do next. This is the most important thing to remember: When you do what other guys have done before when you do what she expects, she categorizes you.

"Guy attempting to pick me up" in the category. As a result, she now has the upper hand.

She is now in control. "This guy wants to sleep with me... do I want to do it or not?" she must now decide.

But if she doesn't want to cuddle with you right away, before she knows more about you, that's it. You don't want to be here.

One of the main underlying ideas of Secret Attraction is that we remove these decision-making occasions, which eliminates her power to reject you.

What are our options for dealing with her Pattern Recognitions?

There are numerous options available to you. I'll give you two examples immediately.

First and foremost, you can...

COMPARE YOUR PATTERN TO WHAT SHE EXPECTS

You can raise arousal and fully avoid imposing a rejection decision by running the opposite behavior when a woman expects a certain response, behavior, or action from you, one that she knows 99 percent of males will run.

To explain all of the circumstances and situations in which this works would take dozens of pages, so let's simply use an example that could come up in a conversation.

So you're speaking with a woman and she tells you she's a nurse.

What a lovely gesture. In this situation, what do you believe 99 percent of men would do? They begin to behave empathetically, show interest in her, and compliment her on how wonderful it is that she is a nurse.

Most girls don't have much going for them, but this one is different because she works as a nurse.

Although this is true if she's a hot lady (and you want to be getting the most beautiful woman right?) she's probably heard what you're about to say millions of times before. And when you feed her the same pattern that every other bad guy who has tried to pick her up has used in the past, she instantly tags you in her mind. Sure, complementing a girl on her work as a nurse will not get you smacked. In reality, at the end of the day, you might be just well.

However, it significantly increases the likelihood that she will excuse herself to "go to the bathroom."

Why? Because you've been marked as a "rejection target" by her.

She is aware that you are attempting to pick her up, and when this occurs, she will be forced to make a choice, which, as I have repeatedly stated, is NOT what we want.

Instead, what should you do? Give her the last thing she wants Now you can see it.

The vast majority of men are classified as "boring pickup attempts." "Am I going to sleep with him or not?" the woman wonders. You, on the other hand, have just jolted her out of her stupor, making her much more interested. Her decision-making process for acceptance or rejection is halted, and you resume your conversation.

Another technique to employ the "Pattern Recognition Principle" is to disguise yourself as someone she already knows, likes, or trusts and have her respond to you as such.

To accomplish this, you must...

While there are numerous unfavorable patterns she has linked with people who have approached her in the past if you mimic their behaviors, you will be labeled as one of them, and your resistance will skyrocket...

She also appreciates designs that are recognizable to her. For example, she identifies positive people in her life with certain behaviors, facial expressions, and events.

RUN A PATTERN THAT SHE ENJOYS AND/OR IS FAMILIAR WITH

If you give her these patterns, she will run the Free patterns that match to them, in which her guard is down, she trusts, likes, and feels like she knows you. It's just like a wolf cloaking himself in a sheep's skin. (Though not quite as heinous) This principle can be seen in action on the approach. Almost every "method" offered by the community is nearly identical. Sure, you go 'direct' sometimes and 'indirect' other times. But, in the end, it's all the same since, after all, you're "Stranger Approaching Girl."

And you're done after that first peek and a few steps. You're not someone I'm familiar with. She's not someone I'm familiar with. Sure, she might like you, but it's still an uphill struggle... one that frequently ends in rejection. So, what's a better option? She has both a "Stranger" and a "Friend" reaction.

Some girls enjoy having a little fun with the guy before discarding him. Others enjoy acting cold and bitchy to see what he'll do next. This is the most important thing to remember: Once you do how much other men have played before when you do what she expects, she categorizes you.

Certainly, she might also like you, but it's still an uphill struggle... one that frequently ends in rejection. Many girls don't have much going for them, but this one is different because she is a nurse. If this is indeed true, if she's a stunning girl, and you do want to be getting the pretty girls... right? then she's probably heard what you're about to say multiple times.

What if you could feed her the "I know you" pattern? This point holds if you were good friends in the past and happen to meet after a long time. What would happen in such a scenario? If you think that she'd feel in a comfort zone and happily open to you, then you're correct.

The truth is it's a vital part of the opening process of the Secret Attraction method. You simply run the "I know you" pattern combined with relevant body language, familiar conversations, and facial expressions. In turn, the lady in question reciprocates with the "I know this guy" pattern. Many individuals have gained success with this conversational startup; you could be among them provided you begin correctly.

If everything goes well, it bypasses the chances of rejections and puts you straight into the latter stage of attraction within a matter of moments. That being said, there are a few points to get this process to work seamlessly with no issues. While it's better exuded on a camera, this should set the scene right for further conversation. Also, you know how to avoid patterns that can lead to rejection and undesirable resistance. Even better, you get confidence in running other familiar and pleasurable patterns that can serve the purpose in the attraction process.

The final and the main concept that I'd like to cover in the report is what I prefer to call... And that's a big one. It's the principle of effort effect'. The principle asserts that the higher you put in efforts, the higher the chances of dismissals/rejections will be.

If I'd the chance of setting up a camera in a nightclub and videotaping guys trying to talk to ladies, I could tell you, within half a minute, which guys are going the right way and which guys are walking out of the path.

You may wonder - How? I can draw inferences based on the amount of effort put in by guys in the attraction process. In other words, the time and patterns used by the guy to hold the interest and attention of the woman are enough to conclude the point.

It's something that's visible through body language and movements alone. If you add verbals to the process, it's just not possible to miss or go wrong here.

The Effect of Effort

You might have heard the saying that the more effort you put in, the better the results will be. However, this point doesn't apply to the learntogetanygirl method. Here, if you do more work, you stand a straight chance of rejection. Why?

There are two reasons behind a quick rejection. The first reason is it gives a bad message to the lady. She begins to think that you're saying that you want her and expect her to want you. It's a sort of sexual language that most ladies hate.

She's compelled to make a decision. She takes control over what happens among you two.

If you keep the effort low, she can't figure out whether you're interested in her or not. So, she can't decide to reject or accept you because there's no such deal present there.

When you demonstrate a high degree of work, you convey low value. It's considered a low characteristic. Only guys of low value try hard for ladies.

Once you start conveying low value through your behaviors, she starts thinking - I don't wish to be around this man.

The feeling is similar when a fat pimply girl chats with you in a nightclub and you try to avoid her.

I figured out the relationship between effort and value when hanging out in London with a man who's well known for being a womanizer. He's the real deal. So, what's his secret?

When I first saw this guy, I was taken aback. He'd lay his back in the seat without paying attention to ladies and text on his cell phone all night. Women would approach him one by one to get his attention. However, he'd be too occupied with his chores.

Did this man have other things worked for him around? Yes. Yet, his efforts were amplified by the low amount of effort he exerted in.

You see, value stands paramount without a doubt. A rich, popular, good-looking guy with charm, wit, and funny things will be unquestionably attractive. But there's another factor that plays its part and that's the level he exerts. The lower the effort, the higher the value is.

The feeling "ew who's this man, get him away from me now" could turn your whole legwork in vain.

This happens to be one of the main reasons why most of the methods out there fall flat without delivering the desired results. Remember, women aren't objects. They're living beings just like you. So, respect them. If you do so, you're in luck and could even find a lady of your dream.

Telling funny jokes and stories of how you rescued a pet might seem interesting, but they won't interest her. In the end, she will try to get away from you, all thanks to your dedicated efforts to garner attention.

The relationship between effort and value is surely important. You can enhance your chances by knowing this point alone. However, don't forget that the Secret Attraction works by flying low on a lady's rejection radars.

When a woman thinks you're putting in more effort to grab her attention, you're done because she's compelled to make a decision.

We all know that putting the decision-making power in her hands only leads her to make an undesirable choice.

So, in this innovative model, we focus on demonstrating more value without putting in too much effort. That way, she perceives us of high value. However, our value isn't directed at her through actions and behaviors that warrant a large amount of work.

This is how we show we are high value, and we are not allowing her the chance to make a yes/no decision. When you put a lot of work in, you show large amounts of effort: your cards are on the table. Why else would you put the work in? When she sees the cards on the table, it's her choice if she wants to stay at the table and keep playing or get up and walk away. But when the effort isn't there, you're not showing your hand. As long as you're not showing your hand, you're in good shape.

"He is trying to bang me.. should I accept?"

THE ENTIRE "LEARN TO GET ANY GIRL" TRAINING
METHOD... FROM A-Z

There are principles that power the "Learn To Get Any Girl" method, many of which you now know. The actual method is a straightforward set of steps - a "first do this, then do that" kind of thing. Having just theory is not enough - It's important that I teach you step by steps how to copy my success.

There are five phases in the "Learn To Get Any Girl" model, and each one takes about an hour to explain because of the subtlety of the methods. It requires that I do an incredible amount of "live demonstration" on a female, so I can show you how it's done. It is best to teach it all to you "live" and that's why last September I spent two full days teaching my method to a small group of students here in the USA.

We went over every step there was: from secret value building - the first step, to secret extraction - the last step, and I covered everything in painstaking detail.

Everything you need to do, from the second you lay eyes on the girl you want, to the moment she's leaving your room the next morning. I'm talking about how to come in under the radar and have a 100% success rate. I teach you how to quickly build comfort, trust and connection, so you can have her in the palm of your hands in just seconds. How to use covert arousal building tactics to get her attracted to you and have her thinking it's all "her idea".

How to get her to send her friends home, so she can be alone with you. And I teach how to get her home with you that night, with a zero chance of rejection. This is the holy-grail of pick up - the product of my life's work - that has been blowing guy's minds.

After the program, every guy used this method for themselves, with astonishing results.

I'm telling you all of this because I'm not doing another training seminar, but luckily I captured the entire Secret Training on camera. And want to make it available to you today in a streaming video so you can watch from the comfort of your own home.

To learn more get Learn To Get Any Girl RIGHT NOW!

Over 17 hours of video instruction plus bonus guides for just $69!

That's over $834 of value for just $69!

